

"An historic day out!"

●●●●● Review date: 17th September 2018

I visited The Natural History Museum as part of my Evolution topic with school last week. This enormous museum is split up into zones so I suggest using a map! I would highly recommend seeing the Mammals room (in the Blue zone) because it has fun interactive activities whilst still being informative about the world's mammals- also the blue whale sculpture is a mind blowing must see! A highlight for me was the dinosaur exhibit since there was many skeletons and replicas of claws and teeth. It was very educational!

Unfortunately, the T-Rex (which was interactive) was being repaired. Don't miss this marvellous place because it will truly astonish you. For all ages, The Natural History Museum is the best day out ever!
